

Tactical Planning

The devil is in the details

Designing an effective integrated care practice requires significant administrative and operational expertise: scheduling, hiring, supervision, patient flow, building design, compensation, access, outcome measurement and staff training are a few of things you'll need to consider – and all things we discuss in our Academy Training.

